

SUPPLEMENT MT. STERLING ADVOCATE

Do You Gamble?

Some people do by spending their time and labor and money by housing a crop of hay, oats and other farm produce, and keeping thousands of dollars invested in live stock housed in barns, and gamble with themselves that it will not burn. DO YOU?

Other people place their savings in a home and handsome furniture and then gamble on their luck that it will not burn. DO YOU?

Still others invest thousands in factories, mills, warehouses and other things subject to fire, and think they can, by careful watching, prevent a fire. DO YOU?

To all persons gambling with themselves against loss by fire, wind or tornado, we would suggest you give the matter careful consideration. Can you afford to take chances of losing part or all of your accumulations for a lifetime by gambling on your luck? We think not. See us before it is too late, and do not gamble with yourself.

HORNE'S STOCK CO.

Excellent Stock Organization
Comes to Opera House the Week of December 12.

The local theatre-goers have a rare treat in store for one week, starting Monday, December 12th, Horne's Stock Company, which has played Frankfort and Maysville.

Horne's Stock Company is a company that has played the larger cities for the past ten years. In Cincinnati, the Horne's Stock Company played to enormous business. That fact goes to prove the worth of the show. This company presents no "shoot 'em up thrillers," but offers such high-class plays as "Sherlock Holmes," "The Sign of the Four," "The Man of Her Choice," "St. Elmo," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," "Under Arizona Skies," "The Shores of Sin," and other plays that are equally as high class.

Each play will be given a complete scenic production, as the Horne Company carries a car load of scenery. Whitney Collins, Blanche Epley and Master Frankie in his impersonations of the big league ball players are a whole vaudeville bill themselves.

The cast includes such well known people as Frank M. Readick, Milly Freeman, Howard C. Robinson, Gertrude Hamilton, C. J. Emmerick, Whitney Collins, Blanche Epley, Fred K. Lanham, J. L. Thompson and others. The company opens the engagement here Monday evening in the beautiful story of the Western plains, "Under Arizona Skies," one of the best Western plays ever written. The prices for this engagement will be 15, 25 and 35c. Ladies free on Monday night when accompanied by one paid 35c ticket purchased at advance sale before 6 p. m. Monday.

As he was throwing paper into the open grate and watching it flare up the little one's night clothes caught fire and he was horribly burned about the body and face. Medical aid was at once called, but after several hours the little fellow died in terrible agony.

The father, while trying to save his son so severely burned one of his hands that it is feared he will never be able to use it again.

It will be known as farmers' week at the college, and at the same time the corn show will be in session every day during the week, and bad weather conditions will not be allowed to interfere with any of the program as all the work will be carried on either in the agricultural building or some of the buildings on the university campus or the Experiment Station Farm. Lectures will be given each day from 8 to 9 o'clock in the morning in the agricultural building.

Special lectures will be given by corn experts from Kentucky and other large corn growing States, and lessons in judging corn for seed and feeding will be given at the Experiment Station Farm.

The Corn Growers' Association, the Kentucky Swine Breeders, the Kentucky Sheep Breeders, the Kentucky Beef Cattle Association, the Kentucky Dairy Cattle Club and the Kentucky Horse Breeders' Association will also hold meetings.

The main feature of the week will be the corn show, which will last all week, but the other meetings will be of great importance and the combined meetings of the various bodies will bring together the largest number of farmers and persons interested in farming that ever before has been gathered in the history of the State.

Miss Myrtle Cline, of Thompson Station, Clark county, who went to Cincinnati with a traveling man by the name of W. L. Wilson, of this county, where they were to have been married, but owing to Wilson failing to keep his promise of marriage, the ceremony was never performed.

The girl was locked in a room, and life became so miserable to her that she wrote her mother that she was going to commit suicide, but failed to give the mother her address. The Cincinnati detectives were notified and the girl was found and the man arrested.

Rather than face the charges against him Wilson consented to the marriage, and the ceremony was performed.

Saloon Keepers Dismissed.

In a case of State-wide interest Acting County Judge Mike H. Haggard dismissed the nine cases of the Commonwealth against the nine Georgetown saloonkeepers for want of jurisdiction. It was claimed that these men were violating the local option law which became operative upon the placing of the Court of Appeals mandate in the hands of the Circuit Clerk, by keeping spirituous liquors for the purpose of selling them.

The presiding Judge insisted throughout that he had no jurisdiction and refused to hear further argument, dismissing all cases and leaving further action to Circuit Judge Stout, who, he claims, only has jurisdiction in this matter, intimating that no business should be closed except by legal notice.
